

Green Networks win Environmental Business of the Year Award

Green Networks are delighted to announce they have won the Environmental Business of the Year Award.

Commenting on the win director Tim Mears said “we have shown that going Green doesn’t mean higher

Director Mark Green added, “we know all businesses will have to operate as we do in the future. It’s nice to be recognised for the work we’ve done and being ahead of the game, now we want others to do the same.”

Green Networks is at the forefront of delivering carbon neutral telecoms solutions to businesses in the UK. As one of the few companies selling carbon neutral minutes we have gone further and have offset the carbon emissions for all our operations, including travelling and commuting.

Our commitment to environmental sustainability also extends to our product line. Our new VoIP / IP telephony services along with our resilient hi grade broadband products allow businesses the flexibility of working in ways that actively reduce the environmental impact of doing business.

Talk to us about how your business can become Greener, starting with all your communication needs.

